Course description:
As it appears in the current catalog. (required)

This clinical course will provide both lab instruction and the clinical field experience related to prevention, assessment and care related to lower extremity sports. Major content areas include risk management and acute care. Clinical skills will be taught and evaluated requiring the student to demonstrate a level of competency to complete this course. Travel is required and is the responsibility of the student.

As it will appear in the next catalog or indicate no change. (Please use standard American English including full sentences.)

This athletic training clinical experience course requires demonstration of prevention, evaluation, and management skills related to acute and chronic conditions requiring triage for immediate and emergent care. The course provides both a didactic lab and clinical patient/client care opportunities for hands-on learning of acute care, prevention and health promotion techniques supervised by a preceptor at an athletic health care facility. Travel is required and is the responsibility of the student.

<tbody>
<td>1. It is assumed that students in these courses have acquired the ability to use language effectively, to engage in analytical thought and creative processes, and to use information and bibliographic sources with skill.</td>
<td>This course will challenge students to read and analyze current research and best practice skills related to patient/client emergency care and outcomes. The student will learn to assess and refer immediate and emergency care patients using clinical reasoning skills and document finding in patient records using effective written skills and communicate with the patient using effective verbal skills.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. It is assumed that students in these courses have achieved a significant level of maturity in the discipline, evidenced by a considerable background of knowledge.</td>

<td>3. These courses should be more than a mere extension of undergraduate courses. Rather, they should be qualitatively different. At a minimum: a. Students should be required to undertake original scholarly/creative activity. b. Students should assume greater responsibility for mastering the subject matter. c. Close working relationships should exist between instructors and students.</td>
<td>The course is an acute, prevention and health promotion clinical course related course utilizing high levels of learning and skills demonstration. The students will demonstrate this during clinical integrated learning of skills and techniques along with scholarly projects. This course will utilize self-directed learning modules outside of class and utilize class time for integrated skill acquisition supervised and mentored by the instructor.</td>
